Area Attractions

Anantara Baan Rajprasong, located on Rajdamri Rd, is at the crossways of the city – surrounding parks and lawns and the resulting serenity (a rare commodity in Bangkok) contradict the fact that Anantara Baan Rajprasong is in the heart of Bangkok.

Exciting Sukhumvit Road is on one end, while bargain hunters' paradise Pratunam is practically next door. The shopping havens of Siam Square and the National Stadium are around the corner, while the Sathorn business district is just up the road.

Just steps away from Anantara Baan Rajprasong, the Ratchadamri BTS Skytrain will take you to most of the places you should visit – although a quick stroll will have you within all the prime shopping, dining and renowned recreation areas of Bangkok. Some of the places to visit are listed here:

- ◆ The famed Erawan Temple next to Erawan Plaza has visitors from all over the world coming to pay their respects while beautifully adorned dancers perform for Hindu god Brahma here.
- ◆ Central World has all that you'd ever need in the way of everything – shopping, dining, entertainment and more.
- ◆ Nightlife in the infamous Patpong area on Silom Rd (an extension of Ratchadamri Rd) never fails to entertain.
- ◆ Langsuan and Sarasin streets are home to local pubs, bars and restaurants.
- ◆ Villa Supermarket is open from 7am-10pm and 100 metres down the road.
- ◆ Next door to Anantara Baan Rajprasong is Lumpini park. A stroll here will refresh and re-invigorate – join the free tai chi lessons in the mornings or the aerobics and dance sessions in the evenings; you can even hire a boat and paddle around the picturesque lakes here.

A city of colours and contrasts

Location

Gold and jewel-embedded ceilings house emerald Buddhas and centuries of royal heritage. Traditional Thai desserts change hands from a canalside vendor to hungry office workers on their way to a business meeting. Sultry heat and fiery spice abound, and yet the city pulses with an energy that can only be described as cool. A cosmopolitan city of 10 million, Bangkok is where fashions, tastes, senses and cultures come together in a heady fusion found nowhere else on earth.

There is no shortage of things to do and see in Bangkok – and Anantara Baan Rajprasong, situated just steps away from the Ratchadamri station of the city's comfortable and efficient BTS Skytrain system, means that you are never more than a 20-minute ride from world-renowned culinary experiences, unique culture, unbeatable shopping bargains – and just about everything else the city has to offer.

Young jewellery and fashion designers set new trends on one end of the Chatuchak weekend market while hard-to-resist Asian antiques at bargain prices are displayed at the other – just one of the many contrasts of old and new you'll encounter in Bangkok.

The spectacular Vimanmek Teakwood Palace Museum transports visitors back through Thailand's royal history, while the Grand Palace highlights Thai culture and legend and serves as a spectacular example of Thai art and architecture. Across the river, Wat Arun – The Temple of Dawn – rises up against the glimmering orange of the morning sky. Shopping is a must in Bangkok, and Ratchadamri Road, home to Anantara Baan Rajprasong, is at the hub of the city's commercial centre. All the world's luxury brands are housed in three department stores located just around the corner – Gaysorn Plaza and Erawan Plaza are across from each other on the corner of Sukhumvit Road and Ratchadamri Road, while the Regent Plaza is on Ratchadamri itself. Meanwhile, Central World and Siam Paragon, two of Asia's largest shopping and lifestyle centres, have all that you'd ever need, from shopping to dining and entertainment, all under one roof.
